GENERAL NEWS

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

The Obelisk—Preparations for its Landing and Erection

NEW YORK, July 20—Cleopatra's needle now in the lower bay will be landed here with appropriate ceremonies. The programme for unshipping and erecting has not been completed, but masons in all parts of the country have expressed a desire to share in the performance. The unshipping will be accomplished by the same means employed in placing it on board the Dessoug. The steamer will be first lowered on a drydock and the obelisk slid upon two floats, one under either end. Machinery made in Trenton last fall and used at Alexandria for lowering the column will be employed again for its erection. The site selected for the obelisk is in front of and to the southwest of the Metropolitan museum of art, a little to the north of Greywacke arch, Central park.

This morning the steamer Dessoug, having the Egyptian obelisk in her hold, steamed up North river and anchored off Twenty-third street, where she will probably lie for the next few days.

WASHINGTON CITY

Spotted Tail and his People.

WASHINGTON, July 20—In a cabinet meeting to-day, the interior department submitted information that Spotted Tail, becoming dissatisfied, had removed his children from the training school where, with several hundred others, they had been sent to be educated, and that his course had led to serious disapproval on the part of the rest of the tribe, who are anxious to be educated, and have appealed to the president to depose Spotted Tail and appoint a new chief over them.

The Indian Hunt in the Southwest.

Col Hatch sent the following from Santa Fe: The latest—Hostiles have taken many horses from ranches near Chihuahua, swinging around that city a circuit of about thirty miles. Arrado, an old Indian fighter, who has fifty men with him, says that most of the hostiles are forty miles southwest of Galjos and the same distance north of Chihuahua. They go into Galjos to trade and are not killing people. I think they will cross below Quitman. Five Indians crossed July 4. Capt Bunkerhoff is looking for them from El Paso.

A Big Contract.

OMAHA, July 20—The city council this afternoon awarded a contract for the construction of water works to T E Locke, manager of the Omaha white lead works, and associates, who are to build town works and charge the city $84 per year per five hydrant for 250 hydrants to begin with and have the right to charge private parties for water. The case is being considered, and if found sustained by an appearance of equity a hearing will be granted.

The U S and the Egyptian Commission.

WASHINGTON, July 20—Great interest has been manifested for some time at the slothful attitude of this government regarding the proposed commission for the liquidation of Egyptian finances. European people being largely creditors of Egypt were especially anxious that Russia and the United States should give adhesion to the proposition for the commission. Yesterday Russia, the last of the European powers to consent, acted favorably, and to-day our state department telegraphed Gen Farman at Cairo, that he might say that the United States also gives consent to the scheme.

Spain's Recent Insult

WASHINGTON, July 20—It is said that the state department is in receipt of satisfactory proof that a Spanish war ship, named Ma mo, did fire upon our fruiters off the Cuban coast. Reports also say that the Spanish government does not in terms deny, but says if the acts alleged were committed they were justifiable because the crafts were suspicious and within less than two marine leagues from shore.

TRUE TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Convention of Colored Men at Springfield, Ills—The Democratic Party Denounced as the Enemy of the Negro.

SPRINGFIELD, July 20—The first convention of colored men ever held in this state met to-day. One hundred and twenty-six delegates were present. John G Jones was made chairman. The resolutions strongly set forth the duty of colored men toward the republicans who freed and protected them, and reaffirm everlasting devotion to the republican party and eulogize the republican candidates as statesmen and patriots. They say:

WHEREAS, It has been charged and currently reported that this convention had been called in the interest of the democratic party, therefore

Resolved, That we disclaim any intention or purpose to give aid or comfort to the democracy either by thought, deed or action, but on the contrary recognize in it a life-long enemy to the negro, seeking while in power to perpetuate his degradation, and since out of power to hinder and retard his elevation. As it has not yet exhibited that repentance which inspires confidence in parties as well as individuals, we will continue to watch it with suspicion.

Pending action on the report the convention adjourned to 10 A M. Governor Cullom and Secretary of State Harlow spoke to the convention to-night.

Grasshoppers

[From the Reno Gazette.]

A reporter of the Gazette recently waited upon a rancher named P P Rhodes in regard to the grasshopper evil. Mr Rhodes, who has a ranch not far from Reno City, stated that last September he noticed that about 10 o'clock every day the grasshoppers would fly to a certain place on his ranch. He watched them closely and soon ascertained that they were depositing eggs there. The space on which the eggs were deposited was not more than three-quarters of an acre in extent. It was dry and rocky. The grasshoppers laid about a bushel of eggs in that spot, as he afterwards learned by digging up the ground. Around a large stone a perfect chain of eggs would be found, as close together as the eggs in the roe of a fish. After uncovering the eggs Mr Rhodes turned in a flock of chickens and they devoured all the eggs. This summer his ranch has been almost entirely free from grasshoppers, while adjoining ranches have already suffered considerably from the depredations of the voracious pests. Mr Rhodes recommends ranchers to watch the hoppers in the fall and see where they deposit their eggs, which can easily be destroyed. The eggs are always laid in dry sandy soil around rocks or on elevated knolls. For some time after hatching the hoppers confine their depredations to the immediate neighborhood of the particular spot where they were born. Of course when they commence to fly a ranch is liable to be visited by hoppers from a distance. But if the eggs were generally destroyed, not only could every rancher protect himself for the early part of the season, but also greatly diminish the number of the flying grasshoppers later in the season, and thus ultimately this destructive pest may become entirely extinct.

"Now or Never!"

[From the Chicago Times, Ind.]

The typical Bourbon, now excited and wild as he is in most respects, comes very near the truth when he says: "This will be the last democratic opportunity to take the government by peaceful means out of the hands of the usurpers. Now or never!" Leaving aside the implication that the government is now in the hands of usurpers, there is reason to believe that this is true. A defeat in November next would be most discouraging to the party for which its organs claim an indissoluble life. Before the next national election there will be a new apportionment of representatives under the census of 1880, and the apportionment will not be favorable to the party of which the "solid south" is the backbone. After this year a party consisting of the solid south (made solid by methods which are once more being put in operation in Alabama and Virginia, made solid in other words on the Mississippi plan) and a small party of the north—a party which has for years indicated no political purpose except to wipe out all the war legislation and to perpetuate and dilute an irredeemable currency—will not be able to indulge much hope of success. Under the new census the northern states will gain and the southern states will lose representatives in congress, and of course, the former will gain and the latter will lose electoral votes. A solid south will no longer pay politically any better than it has heretofore paid in other respects. It will therefore no longer exist, and no longer constitute the backbone of a reactionary party. It is indeed "now or never" with the Bourbon party. If it shall fail in the present contest, it will dissolve as it ought to have done years ago and make way for that progressive economic party which has so long been needed.

Real Estate in New York

[New York Correspondent Cincinnati Gazette.]

A half century ago a very desirable lot on Wall street (25 by 114 feet) sold for the enormous sum of $35 000. This was the highest price the property had at that time ever attained in this city, and at such a rate land was worth $500 000 per acre. It may be mentioned, however, that when the Drexel building, corner of Wall street and Broadway, was projected (ten years ago) the price paid for lots was at the rate of $14 000 000 per acre. I have seen a Wall street lot thrice occupied by a building which in each instance was demolished simply because it could be reconstructed in a more profitable manner. Each building was as perfect as could be made at the time, but facilities for increasing rent led to the above mentioned radical improvements. The bank building corner Wall street and Broadway is now in process of demolition. Although a first class structure in its day, it will now pay to take it down and rebuild. The introduction of the elevator has wrought great improvement in the value of business property, and this convenience is becoming very frequent.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY.—His excellency Gov Thayer has recently granted the following commutations of sentence: That of W C Everts, convicted of libel on two charges by the circuit court of Douglas county, and sentenced to pay a fine of $300, in default of which to be imprisoned in the county jail for the period of 150 days; sentence commuted to payment of fine of $110, and in default of payment to be confined in the county jail for 55 days, the imprisonment he has already suffered to be considered a part thereof, or the whole as the case may be. Henry A Glenn, sentenced from Yamhill county for two years from October 14, 1878, for the crime of larceny, his time of sentence having about expired. Peter Sullivan, sent from Marion county for two years from October 2, 1878, for the crime of burglary, his term of sentence being about expired. The acceptance of the commutations in the last two instances is a waiver of all right to merit money.

The pretense that the soldiers who fought in the war for the union, or any of them except the comparatively few democratic ones, are going to vote for Gen Hancock has nothing to support it and is sheer humbug. The soldiers will no more follow him now into the confederate camp than they would have done had he gone straight over to the confederates at Gettysburg.

HANCOCK'S LETTER

Charles Dudley Warner Helps Out in the Matter—Something Considerably Better than the Candidate Himself will Prepare

[From the Hartford Courant.]

Gen Hancock, we learn, will not have his letter [illegible] ready before the 5th of July. Meantime, as the campaign cannot go on with any liveliness until his declaration of principles appears, and he is seeking suggestions, we offer this rough draft of a letter, which may serve until the general has put it into legal form:

Gentlemen: Your welcome letter of the 4th inst, informing me of my unanimous nomination for the office of president of the United States by the democratic convention at Cincinnati, throws upon me a crushing responsibility which I accept with pride. I need only say to you that the nomination was unsought and has been for twelve years, and was wholly unexpected. As we used to say in French at West Point, it is the unexpected that surprises us. You will permit me to say that I accept this nomination as a citizen who has devoted his life to the study of constitutional law, and not as a soldier, and that if I think I am elected in November I shall take my seat. I have dropped a line to Gen Sherman to notify him of my intention, and I have ordered Gen Augur to strengthen Newport Barracks. I shall myself hold Governor's Island in trust for the American people.

The platform of principles laid down by your convention has my most cordial assent as a whole. You will pardon me, however, if I express my own views in detail in explanation and enforcement of the meaning of the platform.

I accept the constitutional doctrine and traditions of the democratic party as illustrated in the teaching and example of a long line of statesmen and embodied in the platform of the last national convention, including the demand for the repeal of the resumption act. That act, fair enough in itself, was exceedingly ill timed and preposterous in its date. It was justly odious to the democratic party as a republican measure, pushed through with the same recklessness of consequences that pushed on the war after the convention of 1864 had declared it a failure. As a republican measure it must always lack the confidence of the real patriots north and south of the late war, and it should be repealed and re-enacted as a constitutional democratic measure.

I am opposed to centralization. By this I mean that with a republican president all power ought to be lodged in the democratic congress. In the great emergencies with a military president like Gen Jackson the popular will finds its natural expression in an autocratic head. This is one of the democratic traditions.

"No sumptuary laws." The country has been brought to the verge of ruin by sumptuary laws. The poor laboring man may well protest against them. When I was in Mexico the whig officers employed "sumpter" mules, a kind of mule not mentioned in the constitution and of a different breed from those used by ex-Senator Barnum. It is my opinion as a lawyer that during war—and I am opposed to any war except a strictly constitutional one for the acquisition of territory—the generals of the army should carry their own baggage.

"Separation of church and state for the good of each." This is a principle that has hitherto been much neglected in the United States. When elected I promise to separate the church from the state. I shall induce Mr John Kelly to do this also in New York city except in regard to the spending of the public money. I am irrevocably opposed to the meeting of the New York legislature in the Fifth avenue cathedral.

"Common schools fostered and protected." This is a general principle that requires careful and particular application. I need not say that in a transition state of society even the best measures must be introduced with caution. Where common education would tend to impair the "solidity" of a free people, or interfere with the constitutional rights of a minority just emerged from a crushing test of the strength of the constitution, it ought to be postponed to the restoration of democratic order, which is the only guarantee in this country of the perpetuation of the constitution. I hope I make myself understood. It is only a question of precedence. I think the resolution is carelessly worded. Common schools in the fairest, but most unfortunate section of our beloved country ought to be protected first as they are now, and fostered afterwards.

"A tariff for revenue only." This is good democratic doctrine and exactly expresses my sentiments and those of Pennsylvania, my native state. In that great state it has always been understood that tariff for revenue only on iron means a tariff that bears some just proportion to the magnitude of the interests of the state, just as in Louisiana it is held that a tariff for revenue only on sugar is a tariff that takes notice of a great saccharine interest.

"The subordination of the military to the civil power" is, I think, sufficiently illustrated by my nomination, not as Mr John W Forney too flatteringly says as "the Murat of Pennsylvania," but as—if I may be allowed to assume a title more in consonance with my temperament and training—the constitutional lawyer of Governor's Island. "A great and thorough reform of the civil power." No reform could be more thorough from the light house at Eastport to the custom house at Galveston than that contemplated by this noble resolution in the accession of the democracy to power.

"The right to a free ballot * * * shall be maintained in every part of the United States." This refers, as those who were at the convention know, to the right of Susan, whose constitutional name is Anthony, and her cotravelers. It has no bearing upon the late confederate states except in this way: It may not be generally known that there is to-day an entire regiment of troops with headquarters at Newport, Ky, scattered throughout the seventeen southern states to intimidate the free voters supporting the claim of the existing administration, "which is the representative of conspiracy only," of its right to surround the ballot box with troops. I am informed that at the last election some votes were cast for Mr Hayes as a republican candidate. This attempt to override the will of a free people should be at once suppressed.

By "the great fraud of 1876-7" the will of the people was set aside under a threat of military violence. There has been an impression that this threat was the 100 000 men threat of Mr Watterson, who reported this platform, and my letter to Gen Sherman which induced the democratic experiment of the electoral commission. This is a historical error, as I might easily show, since the letter was not public at that time, and Mr Watterson's so called threat was believed to be an editorial written at half past 1 in the morning. No. The threat was Gen Grant's ominous silence. The refusal of this [illegible] man to say that he thought Mr Tilden was elected is one of the most infamous events in history. I need scarcely add that in "execrating the course of this administration" the Cincinnati convention rose to the height of a great opportunity with a boldness that has ever been a characteristic of the traditional rhetoric of the democratic party.

The resolution of Samuel J Tilden's not to be a candidate [illegible] with the resolution of the party, is met by the democrats of the United States with sensibility, and by no democrat with more sensibility than by your nominee. I follow him into retirement with sympathy, and I respectfully gaze at the old reformer elevating the standard of public morality in his retirement.

Time fails me for further comment upon this comprehensive platform. An allusion to [illegible] civil life I should like to have seen [illegible] article looking to the reduction of the regular army after the 4th of March, but upon this I will not insist. I am against [illegible] I am in favor of transportation lines. I think that the travel to and from and foreign commerce of the Chinese emigration should be carefully guarded. Every laboring man who [illegible] danger [illegible] cormorants and communists will find in me a friend. I congratulate the country upon the prudent silence of the democratic congress in the last session upon all public questions, and I promise to use my best efforts to reduce the public expenditure $4 000 000 a year, except upon supplementary bills.

Gentlemen, with a profound sense of the responsibility cast upon me by the popular voice and relying upon your aid and that of the Divine power, which I was sorry to see one of the delegates at Cincinnati seemed to think it a waste of time to invoke, I accept the nomination. Your obedient servant,

WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK,
Major General.

THE MONGOLS

Garfield on the Chinese Question

[From the San Francisco Post.]

The following report of a conversation with Gen Garfield was published in the Post of Dec 1878, copied from the Wheeling (W Va) Intelligencer. It should effectually set at rest all doubts as to the soundness of his views on the Chinese question.

The writer of these lines, while traveling west a few days ago, fell in with Gen Garfield of Ohio on the cars and had a long and interesting conversation with him on the leading topic of the day.

"The future of our country," said he, "is a great problem, and for that matter so is the future of Europe and of the whole world. This reminds me," he went on to say, "of a conversation I had with a very intelligent gentleman in New York City a few days ago. He had just returned from Europe, where he had been traveling for two years, and he was in a despondent state of mind over the impressions he had received while abroad. He detailed these impressions at length to me, and in a way that was indeed well calculated to make a systematic impression. It was the prevailing impression among very many of the thinking men of Europe that society there was being undermined by certain irresistible influences. In the first place it is honeycombed by widespread and still wider spreading infidelity. The Christian religion is no longer a supreme influence over the minds and consciences of the masses. The leaders of thought, the scholars of England, France and Germany, have popularized unbelief, and in France it has passed into a current remark that only women and children are any longer to be seen at church.

In the second place there is great restlessness among the masses in regard to the inequalities of society. Why should the few be so very rich and the many so very poor? is the burden of their inquiry and also of their conversation one with another. This undertone of discontent is visibly growing, and is finding expression through channels that are unsettling the foundation stones of the whole social fabric in Europe. Socialism in Germany, nihilism in Russia, communism in France, and chartism in England were all at work, and the masses were being leavened with these principles. Their aversion to kingcraft and priestcraft borders upon revolution. The whole of Europe is volcanic at this time. Immense standing armies are all that repress the outburst. But while they repress it, they afford the grievance on which revolution grows and spreads and becomes more and more irresistible for the final reckoning. It is believed by many of the most sagacious minds that the day of upheaval is not far off.

But this is not all," said Gen Garfield, "that my New York traveler said to me. It is believed in Europe that one of these great heroic movements of the Mongolian race that in the remote past have dispersed their peoples into less densely populated countries than their own, is now preparing. For instance, the Russians in pressing recently upon the Asiatic borders of their empire developed, by actual reconnoissance, a Chinese army of which they were totally ignorant, 250 000 strong and armed, too, with all the effective enginery of modern war, including the Krupp guns. These guns had been made by their own skilled workmen, who had been sent to Europe and secretly taught the art, and Prussian officers had drilled their armies in the use of them. No man knows to-day the strength of the Chinese military establishment. All we see or know of what is going on in China is on the shore edges. It is believed that the skeleton for an army of 20 000 000 already exists. It is believed further that the idea of conquest has once again taken possession of the Chinese mind, and that the great Buddhistic family of Asiatic races can be leagued for not only a wholesale raid upon Europe but also for a descent upon the Pacific coast of the United States. Such a movement means the possible wiping out of Caucasian civilization. England has mobilized these Asiatics as a defense against Russia's advance in the east, but as Count Schouvaloff said in the Berlin conference, what if the Asiatics, taught the art of war, should, like the irresistible Turks once more, look down upon the plains of Europe, bearing upon their banners the legend, 'We come, we see, we conquer!'

Modern war is now a matter of effective arms and of a simple and reliable commissariat system. The Mongol race is capable of great personal prowess. Being fatalists, they dare everything for the end they have in view. Their food is simple, easily supplied and easily transported. Their endurance of fatigue is proverbial. Once organized and in motion they could swarm into Russia as irresistibly as the locusts of Egypt, and upon the Pacific coast of this continent as numerous and destructive as the grasshoppers. Once started, where would they stop? Civilization would retire before them as from a plague. Look at the plague spots in San Francisco to-day. Nobody lives in them but Chinese. Nobody else can live in them." At this point Gen Garfield digressed from the thread of his narration of the tale of a traveler to speak of what he himself had seen in San Francisco. "I have seen," said he, "in a space no greater than the length and height of this sleeping car berth, in a Chinese tenement quarter in San Francisco, the home of twelve Chinamen. In that space they actually lived—yes, actually lived most of the time. There they crouched (all doubled up), and there they cooked, ate, slept, and in a word lived. They cooked with a little lamp a mess of stuff that they import from China, which, like their rice food, is very cheap, and a mere pittance in the way of earnings on the street will supply them food and clothes for an indefinite time. A few cents per day is more to them than a dollar to the commonest American laborer. Hence the lowest grade of poor paid laborer retires before them as it would before a pestilence.

This is not all. They have no assimilation whatever to Caucasian civilization. The negro assimilates with the Caucasian. He wants all that we want. He adopts our civilization—professes our religion—works for our wages—and is a customer for everything that civilization produces. Hence (using a figure of physiology) we can take him up in the circulation of the body politic and assimilate him—make a man and a brother of him, as the phrase goes, but not so in the least degree with the Chinaman.

And this brings me to say," said Gen Garfield before leaving the cars, "that one of the great questions that now press upon congress and the country for immediate attention and solution is, what shall we do with reference to Chinese immigration? We have always refused to citizenize them. Shall we continue the treaty under which they are emigrating to our shores? But of this we will talk further when you come down to Washington."

Hay making is in timely progress on the Malheur reservation.

A Hancock and English Club has been organized at Salem with W H Ramsey president, Col Shill vice president and Dr J W Weatherford treasurer.

M F Bird writes from Tualatin: The second meeting of the Tualatin Garfield Club was held Saturday evening July 17th. The following is a list of the officers: President, Isaac Ball; vice presidents, W F Hedges, R Bird; secretary, G C Day; corresponding secretary, M F Bird. Hon R H Tyson will address the club Saturday evening, July 31st. Everybody is invited to attend.

A bright little boy two years of age, a son of Mr Austin of Seaside, was drowned on Saturday. The child in company with a companion a few years older went into a small creek near the house to bathe. The older child after a time returned to the house, and search being made for the little one, some time after its body was discovered in a lifeless condition. The parents were absent on a strawberrying excursion when the sad event took place.

W S Newby is remodeling and enlarging his warehouse near the McMinnville depot almost to colossal dimensions. The new building covers about 100 feet square and is said to be one of the largest in the state. Mr Newby has replaced the engine he run last year with one several times its power, and increased the elevating capacity of his store rooms in proportion. He is getting ready for a large business the coming season and his enterprise deserves the reward of success.

The apron to the life saving station at the entrance of Coos bay was carried away by the high tides and heavy storms of last winter. The building will probably be raised and repaired soon.

The Arcata arrived at Empire City from San Francisco last week in a somewhat damaged condition, having run into an English iron vessel in coming out of the harbor at the latter port. The collision was caused by her tiller ropes getting foul so that her course could not be changed quick enough to avoid striking.

The body of Geo Brooks, who was missed from North Bend some two weeks since, was found last week on the shore of the bay at the mouth of Pony slough. It is not known whether his death by drowning resulted from accident or design. A silver watch, a store key and $11 in coin was upon his person when found.

Coast Mail: Dean & Co have sent for iron for another crib, which will be built and settled before work will be suspended. This will be the thirteenth crib, making 500 feet of wall, which is considerably more than was at first supposed the appropriation would do. This wall will probably have some bearing on the course of the current at ebb tide, but it will be necessary to have another appropriation before the practicability of the improvement can be tested. Some late soundings made by the engineers on the line of the crib work reveals the fact that the rock bottom extends nearly if not quite to the north spit with a depth of water from 25 to 30 feet, making the best possible foundation for the sea wall so far as it may be extended with the depth of water required for a good ship channel past the proposed point of termination.

Considerable sickness prevails at Canyon City. Fever and ague is amongst the diseases noted.

During the present and past month 1500 cords of wood have been sold and delivered in Canyon City.

A man named Ragdon met with a serious if not a fatal accident on the Malheur reservation on Monday of last week. While hauling hay his team took fright and he was thrown from the load, the wheels passing over his body and inflicting dangerous spinal injuries.

The race track on the grounds of the Grant county agricultural society is in splendid condition. It was laid off by Major Magone, who considers it by far the finest track in the state. The first annual fair of this society will be held from the 15th to the 17th of September, inclusive. The premium list embraces nearly every department of competitive industry and will be published soon.

AFTER THE BULL'S EYE.

Rifle Contest at Headquarters Department of Columbia—Last Day—Sergeant Pressler Victor

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, July 20, 1880.

The rifle contest of which so much has been said and about which there has been so much shooting for the past month in the department opens to-day for positions in the division team to go to Presidio. Every arrangement possible to be made for the comfort of the judges, the score takers, riflemen and visitors has been made by General Morrow and Captain Miles.

There are four men shooting at once from four ranges. Near each man is a judge sitting with field glass in hand and by him a recorder of the score made by the contestant. When ten shots have been fired the marksman is given a card with his name, his target number, number of yards and number of shots. A similar card is placed in the judges' box by Col Alexander Chambers, who with Gen Morrow, the president of the board of judges, and Col Mason sit under cover, directing the contest.

Everything moves like clock work. When a man desires to know just where his shot went the operator at the telephone ascertains that fact, the line running from the 600 yard range to the target markers. To-day witnessed some remarkable shooting as will be seen by examining the record. There was a throng of visitors to-day and the attendance will increase from day to day.

Wednesday will close the contest for 1880. On that day there will be finer shooting than ever if men hold their nerve and weather remains fine. Paymaster General Eaton was at the garrison to-day. This evening Mrs Col Chambers was the recipient of a serenade by the band.

A MEMORIAL OF ANTIQUITY

It is announced that the obelisk from Egypt has arrived at New York. Through the labors of recent scholarship the age of the great monuments of this cradle of ancient civilization has been tolerably well determined. True the result has been reached only by approximation but the demonstration is now so thorough that it is certain the chronology cannot be much at fault. Through the researches of modern Egyptologists discoveries have been made which almost completely reconstruct the history or an outline of the history of the land which may be called the dead mother of arts. Every scholar acknowledges the conclusions of the proofs as to the high antiquity of the kingdom of Egypt. This antiquity beside which the origin of every other historic nation is modern is made clear by many independent proofs sometimes jarring as against each other but agreeing in general tendency. The evidences fix the age of Menes founder of the monarchy between forty five and fifty seven centuries before the Christian era and from that remote age down to the time of the conquest by Alexander the line of kings of the many dynasties ruling over Egypt has been reconstructed chiefly from the architectural remains of the country. Among these remains are the obelisks known as Cleopatra's Needles one of which was conveyed to London not long ago, while the other has now been safely transported to New York. These monoliths, not so old as the great pyramid by two thousand or twenty-five hundred years, nevertheless are older than Moses by several centuries. They belong to the reign of Thutmes III the great monarch of the eighteenth dynasty whose power extended from the confines of India to the islands of the Mediterranean and the limits of equatorial Africa. This monarch erected several obelisks at Thebes and Heliopolis, to commemorate the greatness of his power or evince the depth of his piety. One of the largest of those erected at Heliopolis is now at Constantinople and another at Rome. A smaller pair were transported to Alexandria under Tiberius and set up in front of Cæsar's temple where they obtained the well-known name of Cleopatra's Needles. The age of Thutmes III under whom these monuments were formed, is reckoned at about 1600 B C. The Israelites were then in Egypt, as it is deemed certain that the Pharaoh of Joseph preceded the eighteenth dynasty to which belongs the king under whom the obelisks were constructed. With near approach to positive certainty the Pharaoh of the exodus is ascertained to have been Mineptah II, of the nineteenth dynasty, whose reign is assigned to about the year 1300 before our era. These facts will serve to fix some idea of the age of the obelisks through reference to events made familiar by scriptural narrative. Though the obelisk which now stands in London was presented to England in the year 1820 being given as a memorial of the famous Egyptian campaign of 1801 the intention of transporting it to England was only fulfilled, as most readers may remember, in 1878. A year ago the other monument of the pair was given to the United States. The inscriptions have been translated and repeatedly published by Egyptologists. The four sides of the obelisk as it stood nearly faced to the four points of the compass. On the two sides facing the Mediterranean, the inscriptions are partly obliterated or destroyed by the sea air. On the right side as the monument stood is Thutmes III, represented as a sphinx seated on a pedestal holding in each hand a jar of wine. The inscription calls him "the powerful bull crowned in the city of western Thebes, the son of the sun." Before him is the god Ra, or the sun, wearing a disk, seated on a throne holding a dog-headed sceptre in his right hand and an emblem of life in his left. The other sides of the obelisk are decorated with three perpendicular lines of hieroglyphs. Among the inscriptions is this: "Horus the powerful bull, crowned in Thebes the lord of diadems, whose kingdom is extensive as the sun in heaven. Tum, the lord of Heliopolis, the sun of his race, has caused him to be born. Thutmes III. They (the gods) made him a great abode in their own beauty, knowing what he should be, that he should make his dominion extend as the sun for ages, beloved of Tum, the great god and his circle of the gods, giver of all life and stability and power like the sun forever." Ancient Egypt has been studied intensely during the last forty years. This arises largely from the fact that the influence of Egyptian ideas upon the race of Israel, and so extending through all subsequent ages and to modern times has a profound interest for the whole Christian world. The Jews went out from Egypt with a modified Semitic speech and a pure Semitic blood but they carried with them all the wisdom of the Egyptians." And thus, as an eloquent writer says: "We see there is sufficient reason for the absorbing interest felt by all thoughtful men in the annals of Egypt. Wonderful developments have taken place since the greatest of the pharaohs wore the double crown but the germ of all future civilizations was in that powerful people. The thinking and the living of all mankind have been moulded by the influences of Moses and of Jesus and both were of the race whose early lessons were received with stripes from Egyptian masters. The long sojourn of the Israelites in Egypt, from the settlement of the family of Jacob to their exodus under Moses has thus been productive of the greatest and most lasting results known in history. Centuries of oppression consolidated them and made them a hardy and warlike people. They learned the sciences and arts of their oppressors; they built upon their customs and laws. They came to have a proper pride in an unmixed lineage, and they carried into Syria the certainty of one God—a God long before dreamed of by Egyptian priests and kings. In this monument we have a known relic and record of Egypt during the stay of the Israelites and as we look upon it we may see in imagination and in fact as well how those ages connect with our own across the broad gulf of thirty five hundred years."

VALUE OF THE RAPE PLANT

Throughout Great Britain and in most of the countries in continental Europe the cultivation of the rape plant for a variety of purposes is general. It is raised in gardens for the purpose of supplying a substitute for lettuce and cabbage. It is cultivated in fields as a fodder plant, especially designed for sheep, or plowing under for a manure and for the production of seed for the manufacture of oil. It is found to do remarkably well on reclaimed marshes and all peaty soils that are not suitable for the production of grain. [illegible] plowed under it is reported to enrich [illegible] in the same way that clover does and a previous growth on land is regarded as [illegible] for the production of wheat. It is extensively raised in sections of the country where turnips do not grow well.

The rape plant has never received much attention in this country. A writer in the Breeders' Live Stock Journal who has experimented with it in Oregon gives an interesting statement of its management and its value. The English know more about the culture of varied crops than we do and we suspect this writer is an English farmer who was employed for a time on a farm belonging to some one of our wealthy citizens of Portland. The profits of rape culture he says are great and nowhere can the plant be grown better than in stock countries where the grass in summer becomes short or dried up. Here is a hint for a large section of our country in Oregon and Washington. In other words a substitute for grass may be had in rape. In appearance the leaves of the plant resemble those of the rutabaga or Swedish turnip. It has bulbous roots which search the soil to the depth of twelve inches. It derives its vitality largely from the moisture of the atmosphere during night. Always in the morning the leaves are found hanging with heavy dewdrops in great measure supplying the stock with water as well as food a rich quality in dry seasons or countries.

Speaking of his Oregon experiment the writer says seven acres were sown on the last week of May in drills thirty two inches apart at the rate of three pounds of seed per acre. In six weeks after it was sown long-wooled sheep were turned in upon it at the rate of eight to the acre and in addition to them about twenty Berkshire pigs on the same patch. Sheep and pigs became rolling fat the former bearing a marked difference in condition and general health to those which did not have the benefit of rape feed. On the 21st of July ten acres more were sown broadcast in a piece of fallow and notwithstanding the dryness of the season the crop was most luxuriant. It was green all winter and carried fourteen sheep to the acre.

The directions are that as soon as the plants are eaten down remove the stock and let the field rest till in a few weeks the plants will be sufficiently grown to receive the animals again. It is recommended that instead of fallowing so much the lands be sown in rape. "Figure upon it," the writer says, "and compare the difference of the profits in fallowing with rape and the old fashioned slovenly way that is too much practiced by merely scratching the ground and cultivating a few annual weeds. Suppose the field be a fifty acre one. On an average you will have one starved sheep per acre to keep down the annual weeds, and your land only rested but in no other way enriched. On the other hand by rape fallowing instead of one starved sheep per acre you will have at least twelve full ones or in other words instead of fifty sheep to fifty acres according to the old system, the land will carry six hundred by the introduction of rape. The annual weeds will be kept under control the soil will be protected from the scorching rays of the summer's sun by the foliage of the plants, the profits of the stock would be enormous either from the increased weight of wool, mutton beef pork, milk or butter and yet the profits do not rest here. Think of how your lands will be renovated and restored under such treatment, by the tons of solid and liquid manure that will be deposited on them. Look also at the additional bushels of wheat and oats you will grow the following season under such treatment, and also the general improvement of your live stock, both in condition and constitution. Farmers, try it on a small scale to begin with, and you will see its great advantages and determine to cultivate it. Rape is excellent food for cows and calves, only be careful not to allow them to remain too long on it for the first few days, otherwise they may be affected with hoven or swelling." We have given space to recapitulation of the main points of this article on the value of the rape plant, believing it will be profitable for our farmers generally to try experiments with it. Certainly it is both highly valuable as stock feed, and as a great and cheap fertilizer of exhausted soils.

TIME FOR MR CANN

Already since the publication of the opinion of Judge Deady as referee, it is claimed by the friends and partisans of the members of the late board of land commissioners that said members have been entirely exonerated, and the blame is thrown wholly on Mr Cann, clerk of the board, who is censured for inefficiency, and by implication even for dishonesty. Now we believe and are entirely confident, that if this matter be thoroughly sifted, it will appear that Mr Cann is practically without blame. It is known, and we think can be proven, that certain members of the board had that money, amounting to something like $12 000, and never returned or offered to return, any part of the same till after the investigation began. This delinquency on their part was not due to any inefficiency or dishonesty on the part of Mr Cann, for his principals had the money. In fact it may be stated that Mr. Cann testified before Judge Deady that the members of the board had used the money, and that the portion of it paid in was not returned till after the committee of investigation had been appointed. Mr Cann might long ago have cleared himself of all charges of moral dishonesty, and even of inefficiency, by simply telling what he knew. If he wishes to bear the reputation of an honest man before the people of Oregon, he must do it. It is in his power to vindicate himself and place the blame for this malfeasance and delinquency where it properly belongs. He knows it all and it is about time for him to speak, and not consent longer that his name be smirched and dishonored in order to shield others who were the real parties in fault.

The great warrior, Gen A L Pearson who commanded the Pennsylvania troops at the Pittsburg riot in 1877 and who got so terribly thrashed by the mob whom he allowed to coop up his soldiers in a roundhouse where they were held in a state of siege till the citizens quelled the mob with clubs and pickhandles is "out for Hancock" and a great blow is being made about it. In an interview he declares that Hancock will carry the county of Allegheny, where the republicans always have 10 000 majority. Hancock will carry it in just about the same way that this doughty warrior won his great battle of the round house. Gen Pearson is one of those gushing and visionary individuals sons of the feeble who mean well enough but always fail in an emergency. Pittsburg papers say that his present defection is only pitied and laughed at. Nobody goes with him. The fact is these pretentious boasts made over the departure of this or that person from one side to the other in a political contest are silly and absurd. It is not these few persons who do the voting but the masses of the people and the whole body of changelings on both sides who swell with their own affected importance and publish letters in the papers to let the world know that they have flopped and are going to take the country with them couldn't cast votes enough to carry the most sparsely peopled township in any one of the states which they are so [illegible] they are going to revolutionize.

John W Forney is now supporting Hancock. But in 1868 he did not think of Hancock as he does now. His neighbors are overhauling the files of the Philadelphia Press which Forney then owned and conducted and find him saying such things as these: "Hancock, a Johnson general, assumes command in the fifth military district—Louisiana—and forthwith [illegible] of the nation. A loyal meeting in Texas is assaulted by a mob of defiant traitors and dispersed by violence. The leaders of this mob when arrested by some honest officer who forgot the new policy which now reigns at New Orleans are released by Hancock, for that is virtually what his order amounted to set at large by a brigadier general of the United States army a man uniformed in blue. Alas for the loyal men of Texas with Sheridan a thousand miles away." The man who wrote such things about Hancock in 1868 only renders himself an object of contempt by supporting him now.

At last St Louis throws up the sponge and leaves the palm of victory to Chicago. The census of St Louis is not completed but it will not show more than 360 000 inhabitants while Chicago counts up 503 000. St Louis papers now admit that the census of 1870 which gave their city 310 000 was a fraudulent one. There is no doubt they say that nearly 80 000 fictitious names were added to it. Hence the glaring discrepancy that has always existed between that census and the census of school children the registered vote of the city and the mortuary statistics. St Louis is beaten and will never more contest with Chicago.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 21 1880

CITY.

STRANGE [illegible] —For several days a rumor has been in circulation to the effect that an opposition line of steamships would soon be put on between Portland and San Francisco. It is one of those rumors which are started every little while with nothing at all to back them. There is no need of another line. It would not be legitimate competition but only throat cutting business. The steamers now running are owned by an Oregon company and are run in the interest of Oregon and the northwest. Therefore this company is better for this country than any outside company could be. Its steamers are first class in fact they are not surpassed anywhere and freights and fares are reasonable. Fares between Portland and San Francisco are as low in proportion to time and distance as between New York and European ports. It is far better for the country to have a solid company identified with its interests running good vessels and making legitimate profits than to have an opposition running in error vessels at ruinous rates for the time being with the certainty that all losses will be made up out of the country in future time. The people of Oregon and the entire northwest have every reason to be satisfied with the ocean service now furnished. It is the result of an intelligence which was able to perceive the wants of the country and had the enterprise to supply it.

WHAT CHIEF JOSEPH SAYS —Gen Howard has returned from an official visit to Fort Walla Walla and has a letter which he just received from Chief Joseph from the Indian territory in which that chief represents the losses of his people and asks Gen Howard's advice as to what course he ought to pursue. He intimates that he was promised to return to the department of the Columbia but that promise has not been kept. He says that he is trying to be a christian man and asks that christian ministers whom he knows, among that number Rev Dr Lindsley will pray for him and his people. His letter is apparently sincere and does not ask anything but for advice.

A NARROW ESCAPE —Yesterday afternoon about 2 o clock an old gentleman who resides a short distance beyond East Portland had a very narrow escape from drowning at the foot of Stark street. He was standing upon the apron of the ferry boat as it started out and when it had gone several feet from the pontoon he attempted to leap ashore. He struck upon the pontoon with his breast and fell back into the river. As he sank down he managed to grasp the pontoon thereby saving himself from being carried beneath it. His cries soon brought assistance and he was dragged to safer quarters somewhat hurt and thoroughly wet.

BAD AND UNSIGHTLY STREETS —A stranger standing at the intersection of Stark and First and viewing the streets at every prospect afforded by that situation, would form a low estimate of the decency of the public taste and conclude that enterprise was dead or seriously indisposed. The debris occasioned by the flood in many places still remains, and in others the streets are hardly passable from being damaged by the same cause and still unrepaired. Building and other causes add to the general dilapidation. Street Superintendent Braden might improve appearances somewhat.

A STRIKING PICTURE. —Capt Cleveland Rockwell's latest picture, "Mount Hood and the Columbia River Bottoms," now on exhibition, is one of that gentleman's very best productions. One looks from an elevation on the west side of the Columbia through a gorge across a broad view of half flooded bottom land, with its verdant variety of sward and cottonwood groves, to the roughened river upon which an ocean steamer is plowing its course, while beyond the mountain rises full and grand, snow clad to its base. In detail, as in general effect, the picture is striking and fine.

PROPER PRECAUTION —Although physicians who have long practiced in this city attest that no fears of extraordinary sickness, in consequence of the recent flood, need be apprehended, disinfectants should be freely used in cellars, yards and vaults recently flooded. Such precautions cost but little trouble or money, and the possible benefits are incalculable. Many people in the lower part of the city have already sprinkled chloride of lime where necessary about their premises and the example should be universally imitated.

RAPID INCREASE —The circulation of THE OREGONIAN, both daily and weekly, has been increasing for some weeks past at a rate unequalled in its history. The net increase alone, during a year past, makes a greater total than the entire circulation of any other paper in the northwest. We shall need our fast press, now here on the Columbia, at the earliest moment we can get it into operation. Long ago past all competition with others, THE OREGONIAN now measures itself only by its own standard and by the wants of the people.

COUNTER STATEMENT —The person referred to yesterday as having as alleged by neighbors, thrown his little boy into the river near Weidler's mill and otherwise cruelly treated him, called at our office last evening, saying that he courts an investigation, as he only "ducked" his little boy to make him afraid of the river, whither he is fond of going and as for beating him he says he has only given the child moderate and needful correction and he challenges the humane society or anybody else, to any investigation they desire.

TRESTLE WORK FOR THE NARROW GAUGE R R —The Oregonian Railway company, limited, have let the contract for building three quarters of a mile of trestle to the Pacific Bridge Building company, of San Francisco. The trestle will run from a point near Smith Bros' sawmill along the U S brewery, Pennoyer's saw mill and the water works across the flats to the hills beyond, and will form the approach to this city of their contemplated lines. Work will be commenced without delay.

SALE OF WILLAMETTE IRON WORKS —A meeting of the directors of the Willamette iron works was held Monday afternoon at the office of the company. Mr M. W Henderson was chosen president to fill the unexpired term of Walter Thompson who has resigned and gone to San Francisco. Capt R R Thompson who has been a large stockholder in the company, has disposed of his entire interest in the same to James Lotan and M W Henderson.

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS TO THE POOR HOUSE —The county court has had under discussion this week several needed repairs to the buildings on the poor farm and the necessity of an addition to the main building. The commissioners and Judge Price visited the farm yesterday to ascertain the needs of the institution. It is probable that a radical change in the manner of distributing funds to applicants will be adopted.

ARTICLES FILED — The Willamette Iron Bridge Company of this city has filed articles of incorporation in the office of Hon R P Earhart secretary of state. Also those of the Mount Scott Cinnabar Mining Company of Oakland Douglas County. Incorporators, Thos. Humphrey L G Jackson J A Johnson, David Stump and H J Mattoon. Capital stock $1,000 in shares of 10 cents each.

NOT JACK HARRIS —The Standard of yesterday stated that Jack Harris was the name of the man who was drowned at The Dalles on Monday afternoon. The statement is incorrect. John Norris was the name of the unfortunate man. Norris was a native of Ireland aged twenty eight years. He recently came from San Francisco. The body has been recovered.

THE PRINCESS —Princess Sarah Winnemucca is at Vancouver having been appointed interpreter and teacher for the Indian prisoners captured by Lieut Farrow last year in the Big Creek Canyon country of Idaho and now at the barracks earning their living at work every day. Sarah wears the latest style of bangs—almost to the eyebrows—fashion une.

DEEPLY LADEN —The American ship Belle of Bath from Philadelphia with cargo of railroad iron arrived here at 10 o clock last night in tow of the Oklahama Capt Phil Johnson piloting. She anchored in the river opposite Greenwich dock. She draws 2 feet forward and 21½ feet aft and is said to be the deepest laden vessel ever towed to this city.

WILL BUILD —Henry Chapman of Eugene says that after examining his lots in the Portland City Homestead he is well satisfied with them and proposes to build upon and improve them at once.

COMMENCING WORK —The government snag boat will leave this morning for the upper Willamette to commence a season's work in removing obstructions.

JURY DISCHARGED —The case of the state of Oregon vs James Hurt and John Allen charged with the crime of robbery was concluded in the state circuit court Monday afternoon and submitted to the jury. The jury failed to agree—standing eleven for conviction and one for acquittal—and after remaining out for 1½ hours was dismissed by Judge Stott. When they first came into court Judge Stott on hearing how they stood talked like sending them back until they decided upon a verdict but the foreman stated to the court that it would be useless that they could not possibly agree. Judge Stott then ordered their discharge. The case will be called up for trial some day during the present term of court.

THE COLUMBIA —A special dispatch to THE OREGONIAN from Astoria reports that the steamer Columbia crossed the bar at 2 o clock yesterday afternoon and came to anchor in Baker's bay. As she had not been communicated with our correspondent was unable to state whether she would come up the river during the night or to day. It is probable however that she made a considerable stay at Astoria as the people of that city had arranged for a grand reception a torch light procession and other interesting exercises being part of programme. No arrangements have been made for a formal reception upon the arrival of the Columbia in this city.

FLYERS —The following flyers embracing the fastest running horses in Oregon were at the East Portland course this season. Miller's Ryestraw, Flavel's Caddie R Record Tillie W and Ella Fay Knott & Ayers Flora A and Edith H Lowndsdale's Mayflower Baskett's Pop Eye Taylor's Frank Hastings and Olo and Scoggins & Powers Jim Merritt. This is the finest collection of running horses ever collected at one gathering in Oregon a fact proved by the best time in the various races yet made in the state.

THE RIVAL FERRY COMPANIES —The fight between the newly organized Jefferson street ferry company and Knott Brothers, of the Stark street line is in progress in the courts, and bids fair to be of long duration. Yesterday morning the Knotts commenced driving piles at the foot of D street, East Portland. The Jefferson street company applied for an injunction restraining them from further work until their right to establish a ferry was settled. The injunction was granted.

ARM BROKEN —Mr H T Shipley an employe of the Oswego iron works was thrown from his wagon near the works yesterday afternoon, and falling heavily sustained a compound fracture of his left arm below the shoulder. Dr Wells of this city was called and reduced the fracture. Mr Shipley will be removed to Portland to day.

SUPPLIES FOR THE NEW LIGHTHOUSE —The steamer George Harley leaves again this morning for Tillamook rock lighthouse. She has on board a supply of stone and sand, and a new hoisting engine to be used on the rock. She also carries a new mooring buoy, chain cable and a 3500 pound sinker which is to be placed off the rock.—Astorian

CLAIMS UMATILLA —The Telegram says Mr H C Paige, who is now under arrest, charged with robbing Wells Fargo & Co's treasure box, laid a claim to the town sight of Umatilla City previous to coming to this city. He recorded the plot at Pendleton and was on his way to Salem to set up and make his claim good, when arrested.

PAIGE TO BE TAKEN TO UMATILLA COUNTY —Deputy Sheriff Starkweather of Umatilla county arrived here yesterday afternoon with a warrant for the arrest of H C Paige charged with robbing Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure box. Paige will this morning be taken to Pendleton, where his preliminary examination will take place.

TO BE REVISED —The city charter of East Portland, like that of Portland it seems, requires revising. At the last meeting of the common council President John Kenworthy appointed the following named gentlemen to serve as a committee on revision of charter M C George S E Josephi, C Buckman E J Sprague and N K West.

BUGGY SMASHED —In coming from the races yesterday a buggy, in which were a lady and gentleman attempted to pass a team on the road just this side the race track. One wheel of the buggy running into a ditch was completely smashed and the occupants compelled to take walker's train for home.

BEING OVERHAULED —The three steamers, Bonanza, Orient and Willamette Chief have just received a thorough overhauling at the dock at the foot of Washington street. These steamers have just received the last touches of the painter's brush and look as neat and handsome as when first launched.

CLUB MEETING —There will be a meeting of the Garfield and Arthur Club No 1 at Good Templar Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. Speeches will be made by several prominent speakers, interspersed with singing by the glee club. Every member of the club is invited to be present.

ESCAPED —Two prisoners whose names we could not learn, escaped from the Yamhill county jail in Lafayette Saturday night. Sheriff Kelty and deputies searched for the men Sunday and Monday, but up to Monday evening were unable to discover their whereabouts.

SALARY INCREASED —At the last meeting of the common council of East Portland an ordinance was passed increasing the salary of I N S unders auditor and clerk from $600 to $900 per annum. This is a deserved compliment to an efficient and faithful officer.

EXCURSION —This evening a moonlight excursion will be given to Oregon City by the ladies of the Taylor street M E church. The steamer A A McCully will leave Pacific dock, foot of Salmon street, at 8 30. A pleasant time is assured all who attend.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT —Referring to the advertisement of the Willamette University, it will be observed that the medical department will open on Monday Dec 6th and the course will continue during 20 weeks.

THE VETO PURCHASED —The Jefferson street ferry company yesterday bought from Messrs Foster & Moore the boat Veto, and will place it on the line within a day or two. The price paid was $5300.

CRICKET — All members of the club are requested to be on the ground not later than 3 30 P M to day, for general practice in view of cricket tournament to take place in August or September.

NEW BUILDING —The Ainsworth stable corner of Fourth and Oak streets, is being raised on blocks to the hight of 10 feet. A row of stores will be built beneath.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

John Cran & Co have received by last steamer another choice lot of unlaundried shirts.

On the 1st of August Jacobs Bros & Co will remove to the large and commodious building Nos 30 and 32 Front street opposite Knapp Burrell & Co.

Leahy Sweeney & Co make a very important announcement to which special attention is called. They must close out their large and splendid stock within a few weeks at any price. A rare chance for bargains is offered which should be improved. Ladies give them an early call.

EUGENE AND CORVALLIS EXCURSION —The Lurline will run through to Eugene leaving her dock foot of Alder street at 11 o clock this morning. This arrangement was effected yesterday.

THE TURF

East Portland Trotting Park—July Meeting—Fourth and Last Day—Three Races—Ryestraw Flora A and Popeye in the List of Winners

In some respects the racing season just closed at the trotting park on the east side has been quite successful though at no time has the attendance been as good as the speed exhibits have merited. The best of order has prevailed throughout and the managers Messrs Lindsay and Frazer can congratulate themselves upon having to some extent elevated the reputation of the racing under Portland control. Other mistakes however remain to be corrected and the next season's sports can be made creditable to the city and state. One needed reform is the selection of some one to control the track during the trials who shall have power to enforce the necessary rules and who has the backbone to stand up squarely for what is right. A proper man to act as superintendent of the track would tend to the much better satisfaction of the public. What he could do to add to the dignity of the turf will occur to any frequenter of the race course.

The First Race

Yesterday was a dash of two miles in which the entries were Miller's g g Ryestraw Flavel's br m Caddie R Knott & Ayres b m Edith H and Taylor's br h Frank Hastings. The judges were L J Jeffery Dan Holton and Oscar Kilbourn and the race was called at 3 o clock—an hour after the time appointed. A start moderately fair was had with but little difficulty. Edith H surprising her friends by the manner in which she took the lead going around to the half and the third quarter two lengths ahead of Caddie with the two horses in the rear. Turning into the homestretch the four bunched and came to the wire in 1 52 all in a heap. Edith still held the place of honor to the half. Hastings falling far behind, but on entering the fourth half the bay mare who had contested so gallantly took the third place and the contest narrowed down to Ryestraw and Caddie, with the former gradually gaining, till he took the fore and held it to the outcome, winning the race in 3 41¼. Caddie R second, Edith H third and Hastings badly broken up away back on the stretch. It was soon found out that the cause of Hastings' trouble was a hole in the track between the quarter and the half, into which he had stepped on the second round laming himself so badly as to be scarcely able to walk within ten minutes after the race was over. The following is the summary

East Portland Trotting Park July meeting 1880, dash of two miles, proprietors purse, free for all $150 to first, $50 to second

J F Miller names g g Ryestraw aged by Dr Lindsey dam Ellen 1

Time 3 41¼

The Other Races

Were a dash of a mile in which the entries were Ross & Flavel's b m Tillie W Knott & Ayers s m Flora A, and Taylor's ch h O o, pedigrees heretofore given. Flora A won in 1 47, and a half mile dash in which the entries were Basket's ch h Pop Eye, Ross & Flavel's gr m Ella Fay and Haun's b m Mayflower. The bay mare did not start, and having won it twice the race was given to Pop Eye, the first having been made under a false start.

LONDON, July 20 —silver 52 11-16 consols, 98 5-16 money 4s, 112¼ 4½s, 113¾ Erie, 43⅝

The business and financial situation changes so little from day to day that it affords very few salient points for comment. Money is in adequate supply to meet the current demand which is about of the average volume for this season of the year

In the produce market there is a fair amount of business doing with no special changes in quotations to note Wheat seems to be steady in the foreign markets, but the lateness of the season will prevent any important movement here before the new crop comes in. Wool is steady, with average volume to transactions.

Provisions in moderate supply, with a good local trade and some demand for shipment. Dairy products in fair supply and prices steady Eggs firm at last quotations. Dried fruits very scarce and nominally firm Other products generally find ready sale at the figures last named

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN ]

[illegible] July 20 —Heavy showers have ren[illegible] movement at the wharves of California [illegible] but still not much more so [illegible] been the case for several weeks past. [illegible] trade via Cape Horn is not very [illegible] It is true there are a few more orders [illegible] for certain classes of goods and [illegible] going on shipboard as fast as orders can [illegible] but as a general thing orders are not [illegible] extensive A number of shippers are [illegible] hanging back awaiting the action of railroads who have made certain promises and the latter are confident that a majority of shippers will sooner or later make contracts There are also a number of shippers who have contracts with one clipper line, and many of [illegible] is said, will not renew but will ship by [illegible] of the lines wherever they can secure the lowest rates which are at present much lower than when they made the contracts. Of these clipper contractors the railroads hope to gain a number, and should the railroads gather in all the shippers that they now anticipate, clippers will certainly have dull times during the next year

Steamer freights are very dull and there is very little offered for the California market, even where special rates are offered Owing to the accident of the Colon, the next departure has been deferred until the 4th inst.

The New York merchandise and produce market continue much the same. Breadstuffs are irregular and unsettled, still for wheat under free arrivals of new crop and market, ½ cent and 1½ lower Provisions—Better nominally, but not to sell.

Rio coffee—Dull ⅛c lower.
Refined sugars—Fair demand, full prices.
Teas—Better and quicker demand.
Hides—Unchanged
Petroleum—Dull.
Turpentine—Easier
Sperm oil—Good demand.

BEERBOHM

LONDON July 20 —Floating cargoes of wheat in moderate demand.

Cargoes on passage rather easier
Spot wheat in Liverpool quiet but steady
Wheat on passage 660 000 qrs

The Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO July 20 —Wheat unsettled and generally lower 95 asked, cash , 89 for August and 86 for September

Liverpool Breadstuffs Market.

LIVERPOOL July 20.—The breadstuffs market is quiet and steady Wheat 10s 5d per cental for red winter Receipts of wheat past three days 97,000 centals, including 70,000 American

POISON

Wel De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts

1 That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection at first local and finally constitutional

2 That, being constitutional the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies

3 That impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled to the lungs thus poisoning the Digestive Respiratory and Genito urinary organs

4 That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness Dyspepsia Chronic Diarrhoea Bronchitis Leucorrhoea and Consumption

5 That Smokes Douches Inhalations and Insoluble Snuff cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named

6 That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucous wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories Dr. Wel De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage Home testimony
